

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

Early on the morning of November 27, 1963 a small plane landed at the Mexico City Airport. The single occupant transferred to another plane at far side of the airport. It immediately took off for Dallas, Texas. Later that evening the plane returned from Dallas and the occupant transferred back to the Culmville plane. After many months of checking and rechecking we are confident that the occupant was Fidel Escalante. One of our top aids to Fidel Castro, Escalante definitely had been identified as a pilot from Hadron to Mexico in September 1963.